FLEXIBLE

Choose your hours and location based on your own personal scheduling needs and work as little as 1 hour a week: 18 different schools, 7:30 - 3:50 p.m.

RESUME BUILDER

You can gain leadership experience, collaboration skills facilitating group discussions, and developing respect and accountability with students.

NO EXPERIENCE NECESSARY

No content knowledge or special skills required. Your job is to motivate students.

TRAINING PROVIDED

Six hours of training is provided prior to beginning the position. Ongoing support is offered throughout the school year.

REWARDING

You are changing the lives of students, instilling confidence, and contributing to a college-going culture. You will witness triumph and pride at the students' aha! moments.

POSITION DESCRIPTION:

AVID volunteers facilitate small tutorial groups in the AVID elective classes that use questioning and collaborative learning techniques to develop answers to their questions on their own. We call them 'Tutors' because of the relational trust established while guiding students to achieve their full potential. You're a coach, and need not be a subject matter expert. Successful tutors assist the teacher and organize groups, take notes, support students to ask questions of each other, and attend regularly throughout the year.

ESSENTIAL DUTIES:

- Student success: leading students to find their potential leads to success for both of you!
- Act as a model of personal excellence and high expectation for the purpose of setting an example for AVID students to follow.
- Communicate frequently with the AVID Coordinator/Teacher providing information regarding progress, or areas of concern.
- Commit to the same day/time each week; your choice. You will develop a relationship with your group of students who will depend on you to be there to support them.
